OSCAR O. BEAN IS FOUND DEAD IN BED AFTER SUFFERING HEART ATTACK; WIDELY KNOWN IN BUCKS COUNTY

Prominent Doylestown Resident Had Been Active in Bucks County Affairs for Many Years—Had Not Enjoyed The Best of Health for Past Several Months

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 24—One of the most widely known residents of Bucks County was found dead this morning when Mrs. Oscar O. Bean discovered that her husband had passed away during the night. Mr. Bean was discovered dead in bed at 8:45, and death was due to a heart attack suffered during the night. He was 62 years old. Mr. Bean had not enjoyed the best of health for the past few months and retired from many of his activities several months ago. He continued to go to his office here until about a month ago.

Mr. Bean was born December 22, 1880, in Hiltown township, Bucks Co., and was the son of the late John D. and Sarah Bean. He attended the Sellersville public school, later entering high school at Lansdale, Montgomery County, from which he was graduated in 1894 at the age of 14.

Ambitious to read law, Mr. Bean came to Doylestown in 1895 and began the study of surveying and civil engineering under the instruction of the late Charles F. Meyers. He was elected county surveyor in 1904. On November 10, 1904, he was admitted to the Bucks County Bar after having studied law in the office of the late Honorable Robert M. Yardley. He was admitted to the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania in 1920.

In connection with his law practice and his various other business activities, Mr. Bean conducted one of the largest insurance agencies in the county under the firm name of Bean and Hobensack.

In 1912 Mr. Bean was nominated on the Republican ticket for the office of Representative in Congress from the eighth congressional district, and though he ran well ahead of his ticket he suffered defeat with the other candidates.

In 1915 Mr. Bean was elected register of wills of Bucks County and during his term in office introduced great improvement in the filing and indexing systems. In 1907 he was appointed by the United States District Court as referee in bankruptcy for Bucks County and served in that capacity until 1912.

From the time Mr. Bean attained his majority, he gave hearty support to the Republican party, and in 1906 he was elected chairman of the Republican County Committee in which capacity he continued five years, serving as delegate to various party conventions and giving willing and efficient aid to the party advancement. In 1909 he became manager and treasurer of the Intelligencer Company, publishers of the Doylestown Intelligencer, participating in the consolidation of this newspaper with the Doylestown Republican under the former name. In 1916 he assumed the management of the Newtown Enterprise at Newtown.

He was affiliated with numerous social and fraternal organizations and he was a member of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Doylestown Country Club, and a former member of the Union League and Manufacturers' Club of Philadelphia, and several Masonic organizations.

Several months ago Mr. Bean, due to ill health, retired from his activities with the "Intelligencer" and was succeeded by George S. Hotchkiss.

Mr. Bean in addition to his wife is survived by one son, J. Donald Bean, who was associated with him in the insurance, real estate and law business.

Co-operative Concert Is Postponed Until April 29th

The third and final concert in the winter series sponsored by Bristol Co-operative Concert Company has been postponed from March 10th to Thursday, April 29th.

The guest artist scheduled to appear at that time is Florence Kirk, dramatic soprano.

The change in date is made necessary due to shortage of fuel oil. The concert will be presented in Bristol high school auditorium.

EDGELY DEFENSE GROUPS CONSIDER ACTIVITIES

Discuss Various Phases of Their Work; Hear Speakers of Prominence

AT A DINNER MEETING

EDGELY, Feb. 24—Eighty were served at a dinner sponsored here last evening by the Local Civilian Defense Organizations, comprising Edgely, Headley Manor, Landreth Manor and Emilie. The affair took place at Lodge's Hall, with a number of individuals active in civilian defense work, both here and throughout Bucks County, being scheduled as speakers.

J. Leslie Kilcoyne, Esq., served in the capacity of toastmaster, and plans for the evening affair were in charge of the following committee on arrangements: Thomas Livesey, Leo Lynn and Leon Hutton.

Mr. Kilcoyne reminded that the principal problem is how to "jolt people from their complacency." He enlarged on this by recalling that Germany counted on the complacency of the French people in her plans for invasion of that country. Mr. Kilcoyne stressed the need for the American people to beware of just such complacency, adding that none should get the idea that "it can't happen here." He reminded how after "Pearl Harbor" that a "lift" was given the people of the United States by the bombing of Tokyo. "Just such a bombing of an American city by the enemy would also give a 'lift' to the peoples of enemy countries, and might be tried at any time," he told the Delaware River Valley is considered a most vulnerable spot.

The toastmaster contrasted the small

More Material Received For Surgical Dressings

EDDINGTON, Feb. 24—Mrs. C. Burnley White, chairman of Eddington surgical dressing group, has received a large shipment of gauze from chapter headquarters of the American Red Cross to be made into dressings.

"The Monday evening meetings held from 7:30 to 10 p. m., lately discontinued for lack of material will be resumed beginning March 1st," said Mrs. White. "I hope as many volunteers as possible will assemble in Christ Church parish house on that evening to make dressings so that we can expediently fulfill this rush requisition."

NEW TOWER TO BE BUILT FOR AIRPLANE SPOTTERS

Henry Palmer Company Will Present Tower For The Langhorne Group

TO BE FABRICATED HERE

LANGHORNE, Feb. 24—A modern airplane spotting observation tower is to be erected near the intersection of the super-highway and Pine street, it is announced by Henry Palmer Co., who, co-operating with Allied Housing Associates, Inc., will present the tower as a gift to the agencies operating the local spotting station.

The structure will be fabricated in Allied's plant in Bristol along the lines in which war housing is coming off its assembly lines. The various sections will be taken to the site and afterwards will be erected and complete—ready for use within a few hours.

The new tower should prove to be most efficient with its four sides of practically all glass, allowing the maximum amount of visibility for spotters. The exterior will consist of a heavy exterior insulation board painted and applied on heavy frame construction. The ground floor will be used as an entrance and storage for fuel, etc. A stairway leads from the ground floor to the tower above, which measures approximately eight feet square, allowing ample room for necessary office space for the observers.

One of the most interesting features is the demountability of the structure. When the need for spotting towers is over, it can be quickly demounted and hauled away to be used for some other purpose.

A committee has been formed who will act as trustees of the new tower, consisting of Russell W. Brown and Arthur S. Walker, of the Lions Club, and Joseph Zolot, Frank Cassidy and William Gaston, of the American Legion, together with Mrs. William Metcalf. The Langhorne Lions Club has appropriated a sum of money for the necessary furnishing and utility appurtenances, and a committee has been appointed to purchase the necessary furnishings or equipment.

"Black Swan" Will Be The Grand Attraction

When Tyrone Power's many fans thrill to his exploits in "The Black Swan," a swashbuckling sea thriller, it might add an exciting measure of realism to ponder the possibility that, even as they watch the film, Ty might well be involved in a bit of real action somewhere on the high seas. The dashingly young star recently enlisted in the Marines.

It is proper that Power's last two roles find him busy on the briny deep: in "The Black Swan," Technicolor filmization of Rafael Sabatini's mighty tale, he appears as a redoubtable freebooter, while in "Crash Dive," soon to be released, he is a member of a submarine crew. "The Black Swan" opens Thursday at the Grand Theatre.

PRESERVATION OF LOCAL GOV'T URGED BY SUPERVISORS

Nothing Whatsoever, However, Must Interfere With The War Effort

LEGISLATION FAVORED

Ask Bucks County Representatives To Favor Such Bills

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 24—"Nothing whatsoever must interfere with the war effort that is necessary, but at the same time it is absolutely imperative that we work now for the preservation of local government after this war is over."

Those are the words of H. A. Thompson, of Drexel Hill, secretary of the Pennsylvania State Association of Township Supervisors, spoken Monday at the 1943 annual meeting of the Bucks County Good Roads Association—supervisors and auditors of Bucks county—in the Court House here. About 200 members attended the morning and afternoon sessions.

During the session the association went on record as favoring a number of things which they will urge Bucks county representatives in the House and Senate to support in bills which have already been presented. Outstanding are the following bills:

1.—To support legislation to continue the appropriation from the Motor License Fund for allocation to townships under the principle of Home Rule, so that supervisors may continue their township road improvement program.

2.—At present one cent of the gasoline tax collected from motorists is

Soiled Flags

(By "The Stroller")

With the arrival of better weather we have noticed a more generous display of flags from residences and places of business in Bristol.

We do, however, think, one of our readers made a timely suggestion the other day, when she said "put something in your paper about the worn and faded flags which are being displayed."

What this reader had in mind was the flags which have become torn and faded, but which are still being displayed. Displaying such a flag, perhaps in an oversight on the part of the individual, but we agree with our reader when she objects to displaying weather torn and faded flags. Such flags should be replaced and can be by the expenditure of only a small sum.

Red Cross Workers To Hold Luncheon in Phila.

All Red Cross workers desiring to attend the luncheon to be given March 8th, at 12 o'clock noon in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Philadelphia, are asked to make reservations at once.

The price is $1 per plate and reservations can be made through Mrs. Holland at the Bristol Red Cross headquarters, Mill street.

Speakers will include a Red Cross nurse and a wounded soldier back from Corregidor.

"Rastus" to Return In Minstrel Show Here

Yes sir! For the first time in years "Rastus" is back! Rastus and his "side-kick" will try to get the best of the interloctor at the minstrel show to be given Thursday and Friday evenings in the Sunday School auditorium of Bristol Methodist Church, Mulberry and Cedar streets.

This show will be what is called an "Old Time Minstrel." It is built upon the same lines as the minstrels formerly given by Dumont's, at Philadelphia, and the Million Dollar and Steel piers in Atlantic City, N. J.

Some of the songs that will be used in this production are: "Shine On Harvest Moon," "For Me and My Gal," "Darktown Strutters' Ball," "Alice Blue Gown," and "If You Knew Susie."

Following the "Circle Show," an after-piece will be given which is called "A Southern School Room." This sketch is said to be uproariously funny.

The troupe putting on this program is called "The Methodist Minstrel Maids" and consists of the following cast: Mrs. Richard Winslow, Miss Ida Hampton, Miss Charlotte Rathke, Miss Edith Kershaw, Miss Elizabeth Wilkerson, Mrs. Robert Kelso, Miss Mildred Houser, Miss Alma Rathke, Mrs. Arthur Peterson, Miss Irene Rank, Miss Violet Ruth Rank, Miss Helen Appleton, Miss Ella May Smith, Mrs. Lee VanGilder, end man; Miss Louise Smoyer, end man; Charles Rathke, interloctor; and Miss Dorothy Eelman, accompanist. The script for the show was written by Charles G. Rathke, and the whole production is being produced under his direction.

The show is being sponsored by the choir of Bristol Methodist Church.

Mrs. George Callanan Is Claimed by Death Here

Ill for a short time, Mrs. Anna Bell Callanan, Philadelphia, widow of George Callanan, died in Harriman Hospital, yesterday. She was 78 years of age.

Survivors of Mrs. Callanan are two sons, Mulford Callanan, of Bristol; and Anthony Callanan, Philadelphia; also two sisters, two grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Mrs. Callanan, a former resident here, had been making her home in Philadelphia.

The Rev. W. E. Preston Haas, pastor of Bristol Methodist Church, will officiate at the service at the funeral home of Robert C. Rueli, on Friday afternoon at two o'clock. Interment is arranged for Bristol Cemetery. Friends may call Thursday evening.

NEW CO-ED SOCIETY

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa.—(INS)—Westminster College co-eds have chosen "Scepter" as the official name for the new sophomore women's honorary society recently organized on the campus. Sponsored by "Target," senior women's honorary, the new organization of women students is headed by Margaret Newcomb, Pittsburgh music major. Target members Cora May Ford, Pittsburgh, and Helen Hower, Erie, are upper-class women sponsors.

ROTARIANS MEET

ANDALUSIA, Feb. 24—Bensalem Rotary Club members met for a dinner session last evening. There was no program presentation. S. Penn Salmon presided. A gift of a crate of oranges was received from Charles Werner, of Neshaminy Falls, who is now in Florida.

TO MEET TONIGHT

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Bristol Methodist Church will hold a monthly meeting tonight at eight o'clock in the church.

DAUGHTER FOR MR. & MRS. JUNO

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Juno, Wood street, are the parents of a daughter born yesterday in Dr. Wagner's Hospital. The new arrival weighed 7½ lbs.

WHAT OUR BOYS ARE DOING TO WIN THE WAR

Morris W. Carter, of Swain street, Bristol, who enlisted in the United States Naval Reserves as an aviation cadet last November, has been called to active duty and last week with 150 others from different parts of Pennsylvania was sent to Prescott, Arizona, where he is to take an intensive training course of eight weeks, after which he will attend a pre-flight school for nine months to eventually become a pilot.

Mr. Carter graduated from Bristol high school in 1940 as president of his class, where he excelled in football and baseball. Since graduation he attended LaSalle College, Philadelphia, finishing the first semester of his Junior year, when called to the service. He played baseball with the Hunter team and basketball and starred with Johnnie Mulholland's Bristol A. A. baseball club for the past two years.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT
(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Responsibility

A FEW days ago, pointing out the critical nature of the food problem, it was urged that someone in the Administration (preferably the President) ought to acquaint the American people with the gravity of the situation and warn them of the drastic changes in their eating habits soon to be forced by a food shortage greater than anyone has thought possible.

NO ADEQUATE explanation has been made by any Administration authority, but a very strong statement has come from an Ohio farmer who is also one of the best of our American novelists, Mr. Louis Bromfield. Over the radio and in a series of articles, he has discussed about food with clarity and frankness. In unequivocal language he asserts that this, the richest agricultural nation in the world, is facing a catastrophic food shortage. No one in authority disagrees with Mr. Bromfield about that. No one suggests that he does not know what he is talking about, except Secretary Wickard, whose defense is certainly not a refutation.

ON THE contrary, there is general agreement among farmers and in the Administration that when he forecasts an acute food shortage he is speaking by the book. Dissent from Mr. Bromfield's remarks comes only from one source and only on one point. The point is who is to blame and the persons who dissent are those whom he blames. Upon that point they hardly could be expected to agree. The fact is that he makes an indictment that cannot be answered and which ought to arouse the people to the utter incompetency with which the vital problems of the nation are being handled.

WHAT GIVES Mr. Bromfield's words added force is that he is

GROUNDLESS FEARS

Predictions of some commentators that there will be a sudden and pronounced shift in the buying habits of the public from lower priced goods to the more expensive, as a direct result of the extension of rationing to wider fields, are held by many dealers to be unfounded. People will continue to buy in the price ranges which formerly were attractive to them, many retailers contend.

Obviously, purveyors of goods to the public are in the best position to determine trends in buying habits and they of necessity must be able to do so accurately if they are to be successful. They point out that new buying habits cannot be created overnight, that people buy the things they do because of deep-rooted conviction that a certain article gives them the most for their money. Even though they may admit that something in a higher price bracket is of better quality, they have not thought it wise in the past to lay the extra money on the line, and they will be slow to discard this buying prejudice.

In the case of a necessity such as shoes, by far the major portion of shoe output and sales in the United States has been of the lower priced brands. People who bought this volume output in the past probably knew that there were better shoes, but they were convinced that they could not afford them or felt that the extra wear did not compensate for the extra cost. Some persons may pay more for shoes than in the past, now that the number of pairs
they may buy has been restricted.
But there is not likely to be a mass desertion of low priced shoes for those that cost more.

Point rationing will, in fact, have a reverse tendency. The housewife whose ration book will permit her to buy six cans of beans or one tiny can of caviar in a week is not apt to conclude that putting the family on a caviar diet is the wise thing to do.
All in all, buying habits of the American people will remain approximately as they were in respect to the quality of goods purchased.
The only change war rationing will bring is that the average person will buy less of everything that was his wont in recent years.

HEEL INSPECTION

When shoe rationing really gets under way and all of the regulations are understood, one thing to remember will be the limit on heels. They must not be more than two and five eighths inches high.

An eighth of an inch is something hard for the naked eye to spot.
A heel might be an eighth over, or even an eighth under, and nobody could tell for sure, without measuring. Perhaps this restriction will call into service an army of heel inspectors, armed with rulers and notebooks.

If somebody comes around, asks you to hold up your foot and measures your heel, don't think he is trying to be cute. It may be a federal employee, solemnly carrying out orders.

The voters of Iowa, Wallace's home state, have already turned thumbs down on globaloney. Ninety-six of ninety-nine counties went Republican last November.

The man with the hoe in the backyard garden this year may not suggest anything to the poets, but he certainly will appeal to the cook
in the kitchen.

not fighting on the battle front will be those who are on the front lines can necessary for their comfort.

At a meeting of Red Cross workers held in St. James' parish house, last night, it was decided that every individual in Bristol is to be contacted and asked to aid in this worthy cause.
Every member of a household is to be asked to give. The question of where a man contributes through his employer was discussed. It was reasoned that during these critical war times when those in the service are undergoing such hardships and privations and many times paying with their own lives for others, that other members of that household where a contribution has been made through places of employment, will be eager to also contribute.

The speakers at the meeting were
H. S. Plummer, War Fund Branch
Staff; Mrs. Herbert Walker, Langhorne; and Lester D. Thorne, chairman of the War Fund Drive in Bristol.

It was announced that there will be a luncheon in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Philadelphia, March 8th. Reservations can be made through Mrs.
Holland at Red Cross Headquarters. The price will be $1 per plate.

Mrs. Walker gave a very interesting and instructive talk to the workers and pleaded with them to put forth every effort possible to reach the quota.

New Deal Democrat—quite the reverse. For nearly ten years he has been a strongly New Deal, pro-Roosevelt supporter. Therefore, he cannot be regarded as either a political enemy or a pettifogger when he declares that the reason for the food crisis is that "nothing whatever was done in the beginning, or since, to make an adequate plan for food production. On the contrary, very nearly every possible handicap has been placed upon the production of more food and even of maintaining the normal supply."

AND IT does not make sense. Why denounce an underling and shy away from the man who put him in a post for which he is not fitted—and keeps him there? Why concentrate criticism on those only partially responsible and ignore the man upon whom full responsibility rests? All this does is diminish the chance of correction by permitting
the President to sustain his pose of high-minded infallibility while the Government of which he is head continues to wallow in ineffectual-ity. If Mr. Bromfield's prediction of an actual food shortage is well founded—and there is no doubt of that—the responsibility is on Mr.
Roosevelt, first, for not having a constructive food-production policy;

second, for keeping muddle-headed men in the key positions from which this matter of such tremendous concern to the whole nation has to be handled. Under these circumstances, to call Mr. Roosevelt
"the Administration" and lambast his appointees is to flinch from the realities.

County Seat Couple Mark
Their 50th Anniversary

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 24.—United in marriage at a ceremony performed by Rev. Mr. Burrell at his home in Philadelphia on February 22, 1893, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Windholz on Monday marked their golden wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Windholz are natives of Germany. The latter was born in Berlin, and came to this country in 1881, and Mr. Windholz, who was born in Bavaria, came to the United States in 1887.

Widely known in fraternal organizations in the County Seat, Mr. Windholz for many years has been engaged as a house painter. He also for some years served as a member of Borough Council.

Mrs. Windholz is also affiliated with a number of organizations here. Their family circle includes two sons and a daughter.

Today's Quiet Moment

(By the Rev. James R. Galley)
Pastor, Bristol Presbyterian Church

Almighty God, our Father, accept of us our eternal appreciation of Thy blessing. We are ever thankful to Thee for thy presence with us, whatever our trial may be, and we are grateful for the fact that Thy Spirit is with those whom we love, wherever they may be. We thank Thee for the arm of Christ, which encircles the globe, and for His love, which sustains us in all things. Make Him very real to us, O God, and awaken within our hearts a stronger and more abiding faith in His Word. In His Name we pray. Amen.

paid into the general fund and spent for purposes not related to road and street construction. If the state continues to levy this tax, it is urged that our legislators support legislation to provide that this tax which now goes into the general fund, be paid into the Motor Fund for allocation to cities, boroughs and townships, to be expended exclusively for road and street maintenance and construction by officials of the political subdivisions, so that real estate taxes for road and street purposes may be substantially reduced.

3—Encouragement of the work of the Pennsylvania Local Government Commission.

4—That the township code be so changed as to direct the township supervisors to issue permits; to collect the proper fees therefor; and to assess such damages as may be caused by such encroachments.

5—To ask our representatives in the House and Senate to amend the township code so as to authorize township supervisors to organize Board of Health with all the powers and duties now bestowed upon similar boards in boroughs and cities; and to appoint a township health officer, and to provide for his necessary expense and compensation.

6—To urge legislation to stop the present piece-meal annexation of parts of townships to adjoining cities and boroughs, to the injury of the remaining section of the township, without first submitting the question of annexation to the voters of the entire township, and obtaining a majority vote of the electors therein.

7—To support legislation for a new tax collection code that would fix a specific date for placing the tax duplicate in the hands of taxing officials.

provide for uniform discount and penalty periods to eliminate the confusion under the present system and prevent the chronic dodger from evading payment of both personal and property taxes, and protect the taxpayer who pays promptly.

8—To again make public record of objection to any effort of the Federal Government to levy a tax on the outstanding obligations of the States or any of their political subdivisions.

Officers elected have already served the association. They are as follows: President, Amos Bryan, East Rock-hill township; vice-presidents, William Buckman, Yardley, and William White, Cornwells Heights; secretary-treasurer, County Commissioner Joseph D. Baker, Holland.

Delegates to the State convention were named as follows: Harvey Rice, Plumstead township; William White, Cornwells Heights; William Buckman, Yardley, and William White, Northampton township. Alternates elected include Frank Shutt, Doylestown township and John Stover, Warwick.

Speakers at the morning session included Lt. Col. Churchill Williams, head of the Bucks County Defense Council; Judge Calvin S. Boyer, of the Bucks county courts, and Charles Boehm, Morrisville, County Superintendent of Schools.

Col. Williams discussed the Bucks County Defense Council set-up and urged the united support and co-operation in the necessary war effort pertaining to civilian defense. Judge Boyer emphasized the importance of the war effort but at the same time warned the convention about the tendency to centralize all government, and break down the American way of life that progressed on the efficiency of local government.

ON THE SCREENS

GRAND THEATRE

Hailed as one of the most exciting and baffling mystery films of the year, "The Falcon's Brother" introduces a striking new character into the popular mystery series in the person of Tom Conway, brother of George Sanders, who is featured in the role of "The Falcon" at the Grand. Conway plays the title role.

The story deals with the efforts of Gay Lawrence (The Falcon) to unravel the mysterious murder aboard ship of a man who sailed from the Bahamas under the name of his brother, Tom Lawrence, and the subsequent shooting of Diana Medford, the girl who tricked Tom into missing his boat. Early in his investigations, The Falcon is deliberately run down by a speeding automobile and taken to his home in a coma. Tom Lawrence then takes up the trail of the criminals where The Falcon left off.

BRISTOL JR. VARSITY LOSES TO BULLDOGS BY 1-POINT MARGIN

Local Five Led Game Most of
The Way, Then
Lost

FINAL SCORE IS 23 TO 22

Lorimer's Field Goal in Last 30 Seconds Won The Game

MORRISVILLE, Feb. 24.—After leading most of the game, Bristol high school's junior varsity team flunked in the last quarter to permit the Morrisville high junior varsity to win out by a one-point margin, 23-22, in a tilt which gave the Bulldogs the junior varsity championship of the Lower Bucks County League.

"Hank" Lorimer's field goal with thirty seconds remaining to be played gave the Doherty-coached boys the victory but despite this winning double-decker, Bristol had two opportunities to either tie or win the game. Immediately after Lorimer's goal, Oriola was fouled and given two shots. He missed both tries and just before the final whistle, Massi was fouled and he also failed to convert.

In fact, Bristol's foul-shooting was miserable as only 8 points were made out of 28 attempts. Bristol led 8-1 at the end of the first quarter but Morrisville shaved the lead to 13-19 at the half-time mark. Coach Bartholomew's boys also had the lead at the close of the third session, 17-15, only to lose out in Morrisville's last-ditch drive.

Massi and Mandio were outstanding for the Bristol team while Lorimer played the best both offensively and defensively for the Morrisville five.

sacrifice, it might be called such, of giving up a few cans of food or a Sunday motor trip, to what boys as young young as 17 and 18 are making by giving their lives at Guadalcanal.

Mr. Kileoyne introduced the following to the gathering: James Harris, chairman of Bristol Township Council of Defense; Elwood Britton, chief of air raid wardens and local chairman; Mrs. William O'Dea, in charge of first aid; Thomas Livesey, in charge of emergency police; Leo Lynn, in charge of transportation; Miss Eleanor Faber, treasurer; Frank Kerr, chief of fire department; and Leon Hutton, in charge of messengers.

Another speaker was Ira Fisk, county chairman of transportation. Mr. Fisk considered various problems in connection with transportation. He mentioned particularly that of evacuation in this locality due to the area being situated between Philadelphia and Trenton and also being crossed by two main highways. "We would have an especially trying problems if troop movements occurred at the same time as evacuations of the populace," he said.

Colonel Churchill Williams, county chairman of defense, advised that he considered this meeting one of the best outpourings of interest he has noted. "Bucks County is considered an important section from a military standpoint, with Bristol regarded especially so by the government." He informed that government agencies are sending defense material to this area, so strategic do they consider the section.

Col. Williams, in mentioning that the defense council has been in existence nearly two years, said that it is really just beginning its work. "We should not be easily discouraged by any mistakes we have made, but should keep right on, and improve by our errors." He added that there are about 10,000 interested individuals in this area as far as defense measures are concerned. He gave, during his informal discussion, consideration to particular points regarding evacuations, mentioning that Bristol is a "bottle-neck" from an evacuation standpoint.

"But Bucks Countians are accomplishing much. You are doing a fine job. Keep on!"

school 953 were issued; Wood street building, 920; and at Bristol high school building, 819.

Those in charge of the work of registering in Bristol report that sufficient number of workers were present to aid in the task, the group working in two shifts.

It is urged that all who possibly can apply during the early morning hours, allowing later period in the day for those employed. The registration will continue today, tomorrow and Friday.

At some of the buildings there were quite a number who applied for Ration Book 2 who had lost Ration Book 1. In such cases the requirement, according to the Local Ration Board, is to advertise in a newspaper the fact the book is lost, then after taking the required affidavit before the ration board they apply for a new Book 1 before Book 2 can be issued.

In some instances it was found that relatives had used ration books issued to men in the armed services. It is stated. Such cases are reported by the registrars to the ration board for action.

G. Mason Owlett To Head Manufacturers

the State Senate in 1935, he was responsible for putting through a legislative program eliminating many of the economic snarls which formerly had imposed headache days upon this Commonwealth.

In his first statement following his election, Mr. Owlett called the "energy, ability, resourcefulness and pioneering spirit of those who built up Pennsylvania's industrial empire" and rebuked "every demagogue, every opportunist and every crackpot" for attempting to picture these industrialists as enemies of the state.

"It is these same industrialists whose capital and skill are now directing the building of planes, tanks, ships, guns and equipment with which our soldiers and their allies are defeating the Axis dictators," he said.

The new Association president said that the organization he heads would oppose "all schemes and plans which destroy individual initiative and free enterprise. This Association can never support ideas or men who would create any form of national socialism in place of the American system."

Mr. Owlett is senior partner of Owlett and Webb, one of the leading law firms of Northeastern Pennsylvania. He is also vice-president of the Putnam Oil Company, Covington, Pa.; vice-president of the Tioga County Savings and Trust Company, of Wellsboro; secretary and treasurer of the Highland Milk Condensing Company, Elkland, Pa.; a director of Merchants Limited, New York; secretary and director of the Wellbore Electric Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

At its reorganization meeting, the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association elected the following executive committee: Joseph R. Grundy, chairman; W. H. Folwell, George W. McCandless; G. Mason Owlett, Henry A. Reninger, James E. Shade, Otto G. Hitchcock, B. E. Gerhart, Joseph A. Ranck, Henry S. Bromley, C. M. Kendig, Milward D. Brown, Charles A. Turner, J. Lee Hausher, Ivan E.

Garver, Everett L. Kent, Robert L. Warren and Roger W. Rowland. Col. Brown was named a vice-president of the Association and its affiliated insurance companies.

At the same time, the board of directors for the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association Casualty Insurance Company and the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association Fire Insurance Company was announced as follows:

Joseph R. Grundy, W. H. Folwell, G. Mason Owlett, George W. McCandless, C. K. Williams, William L. Monro, P. H. Glatfelter, C. A. Reed, A. T. Eastwick, Everett L. Kent, Charles A. Turner, Henry S. That Extra Something!

...You can spot it
every time

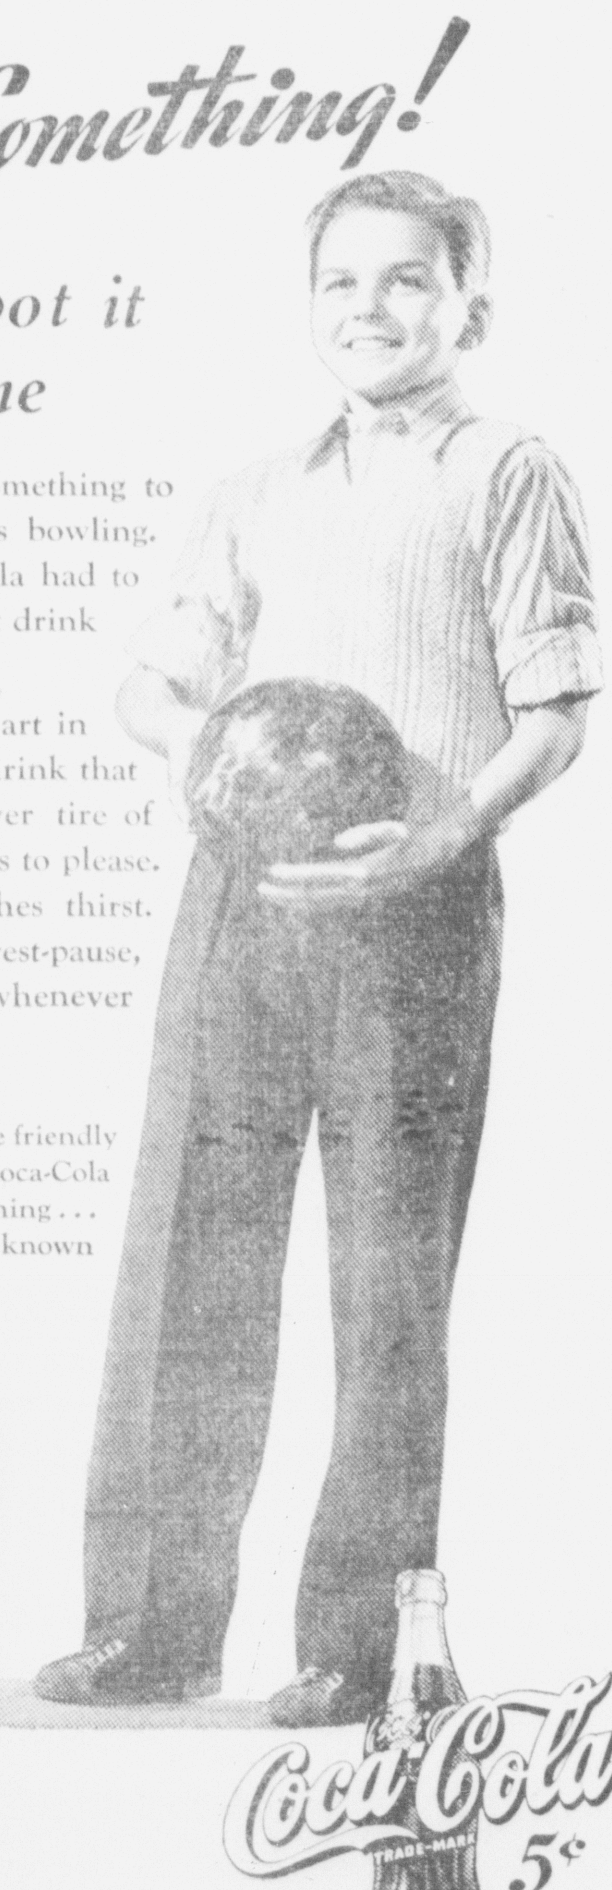

A game has to possess an extra something to have such widespread popularity as bowling. That's true of a soft drink. Coca-Cola had to be good to become the best-liked soft drink on earth.

Choicest ingredients and a finished art in its making produce in Coca-Cola a drink that stands apart. Notice how you never tire of ice-cold Coca-Cola. Its taste never fails to please. And Coca-Cola more than quenches thirst. It adds refreshment. Makes any rest-pause, the pause that refreshes. Enjoy it whenever you can.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called Coke. Both mean the same thing... "coming from a single source, and well known to the community".

Youth rates Coca-Cola high in its schedule of recreation. Pure, wholesome, taste-good refreshment, it's the just-right companion for games and social gatherings.

The best is always the better buy!
